

Table of Contents

Introductionxix

- A Comfortable, Not-Unusual Week Nets $2,000
- From NO Writing Background to Self-Sufficient in Under Four Months
- “Is This Still a Good Opportunity?” (Yes, It Is, and That’s the Wrong Question)
- The Joy of Doing What You Enjoy (Minus the “Finding-Your-Passion” Trap)
- Adios, Online Sites; “UN-Commoditize” Writing, and Watch Income Rise
- A Realistic Biz-Building Guide (i.e., Assumes You’re a Lazy Human Being)
- Book Addresses Wildly Different Circumstances, Backgrounds, Realities
- Attn: “Marketing-Phobes”! Entire Chapter Provides Painless Primer
- How This Edition’s Different from the Last One (& COVID Addendum)
- Top-Line Simple (Not Easy) “Sequence” for Building a Writing Practice

Chapter One

Why Be a Freelance Commercial Writer (FLCW)?1

- High Demand for Good Writers (i.e., Plenty of Lousy Ones Out There)
- Unlimited Work: Businesses Have Extensive, Wide-Ranging, and Ongoing Needs
- Great Time for Freelancers (Courtesy of Downsizing and Outsourcing)
- Four Economically Sound Reasons Why a Company Would Hire a Freelancer
- Live Life on Your Terms (The “Eating-Breakfast-at-10:00-a.m.” Story)
- Minimal Investment: Have Computer? That’s Basically It...Seriously
- A Huge Variety of Work—ADD’ers Rejoice!
- Healthy Income—No More Ramen Noodles & Dodging the Landlady
- Totally Different Financial Paradigm: ALL Your Time Counts (What a Concept)

- Leverage Virtually ANY Experience/Career into a Writing Practice
- Be a Hit at Cocktail Parties (No Lampshade Necessary)

Chapter Two

Got What It Takes to Be Successful? Healthy Traits and First Steps 8

- Writing Ability—But Not as Much as You Think (AND You Can Get Better!)
- Graphic Design Experience (NOT! Repeat After Me: “We’re Just Writers...”)
- Ad Agency Experience (Double NOT! Dispelling the Silly Myth, Once and For All)
- Ability to Market Yourself (FYI, It’s Nowhere NEAR as Scary as You Imagine)
- Discipline—I’m Lazy, Believe It or Not (Just Like You...)
- Technical Expertise—If I, THE Original Techno-Moron, Can Do It...
- Being a Tenacious, Flexible, Reliable, Curious, Assertive Non-Conformist...
- Being Easy to Get Along with: Your Secret Weapon
- Ability to Ask Lots of Dumb Questions = Less Work & Happier Clients
- Ready for Self-Employment? Finances, Mental Readiness & a Cool Hack
- Identifying Your “Four-Minute-Mile” Barrier to Making GOOD Money
- Business Names, Business Plans, and Business Cards—Three Ways to Procrastinate
- Creating a Portfolio from Thin Air (AND Buying an Actual Portfolio...)
- The Writer’s Bookshelf: The Books You Need to Sound Brilliant

Chapter Three

Learning to Love S & M (Sales & Marketing...) 25

- Why We Learn to Sell: So We CAN Do What We Love
- Success Is Far More About a Process Than a Personality
- Marketing: What It Is and What It Isn’t
- You’re in Control of More than Enough to Succeed
- The Show Is Already in Progress; Just Learn Your Lines
- That “Icky Sales Thingy”: Bad Experiences, Bad Associations
- B2B and B2C: Definitions and Differences
- Marketing Lessons from a Former “Love Merchant”
- Eight Sales Tips for Non-Salespeople (From Sales Training Firm CEO)
- True Sales: Not What You’d Expect “Sales” to Look Like
- Into the Mind of the Marketer (C’mon In, the Water’s Fine...)

- Why Write Anything? (Hint: Think Like a 10-Year-Old)
- Tune into WIFM (“What’s in It for Me?”) and You Win
- The 4 Sales & Marketing Cornerstones: Learn and Earn
- Features Vs. Benefits (Stop Talking About Yourself...)
- This One Principle IS at the Heart of SO Much Bad Writing
- It’s Not Just Business, It’s Human Nature
- Are You “Branded”?—The Basics of Standing Out

Chapter Four

Web Site Wisdom 46

- 3 Ways a Web Site Makes Your Life Exponentially Easier
- Web Site Goals: Marketing Simplified, Credibility Enhanced
- The Point: Instant Access to Your Samples
- What Your Site Should Include (Less Is More...)
- How (& How Not) to Talk About Rates on Your Site
- Sample-Posting Etiquette (i.e., Do You Need Permission?)
- Web sites on a Shoestring: Resources, Fine Print, DIY Options
- Dozens of Commercial Writers Show Off Their Sites

Chapter Five

Where’s the Business?. 53

- B2B, B2C and “Internal” Communications: Enough Work to Last Forever
- End Users (EUs) and Middlemen (MMs): Pros and Cons of Both
- The BIG Small- to Medium-Sized Business Market: Upsides/Downsides
- Corporate Roads Less Traveled: 4 Hidden Pockets of Work in Big Firms
- Proven “Drill-Down” Prospecting Techniques to Land the Big One
- Writing for Non-profits: Where, Why, Who & How Much
- Success “By Association”: Writing for the Association Market
- Back to School: Landing Work with Universities
- Middlemen (MMs): As They Find Work, They Find Work for You
- Graphic Design Firms: The Gift That Keeps on Giving
- Other MMs: Ad Agencies, Marketing Firms, PR Firms, Event Production Companies
- Creative Temp Agencies & Technical Staffing Companies: Writing Gigs, for a Cut

- How to Convince a Low-Ball Client to Hire You? You Don't!
- Where and How to Find These Lovely Bill-Payers
- Potent List-Builders: Online Phone Directories, Library Databases & The Book of Lists
- Leverage Any Career/Educational Background for Instant Competitive Edge
- Trade Shows, Trade Pubs & Talks, Oh My!
- Online Job Sites: Typically, a Waste, But Here's How to Win

Chapter Six

Cold Calling: No Cold Sweat, Just Cold Cash 82

- Is Cold Calling Dead? (You Should Be So Lucky...)
- Would You Make 150–200 Calls in a Month to Earn $20K? Thought So.
- Cold Calling Isn't Mandatory, But You'd Best Get Comfy with It.
- You're Selling a Professional Service, NOT Aluminum Siding!
- You Care + They Don't = Phone Phobia
- Lessons from a Ballsy Door-to-Door Book Salesman
- "Why Is It So Hard at First?" The Surprising Answer.
- The One Simple Mind-Shift that'll Dramatically Reduce Your Anxiety
- Become One with The Law of Averages.
- "Everyone I Call Already Has a Freelancer" and Other Silly Excuses
- The Nitty-Gritty, Cold-Calling How-to Details
- Your Cold-Calling Script: Focus, Don't Freak
- Crash Course: Dealing with Barbed-Wire Secretaries
- Turning Voicemails into Productive Feelers
- Strategies for Maximizing Calling Success
- The Critical Importance of Critical Mass

Chapter Seven

Nuts 'N Bolts: Letters, Meetings, Follow-Up, Phone Interviewing, Client Types and More 97

- Simplifying Your Client Email Follow-Up
- The Power of TELs (Targeted Experience Lists): What, When, Why & How
- Client Meetings: Biz-Builders or Time-Wasters? Different Takes...
- Different Types of Meetings: Preparation and Objectives

- “The Discovery Questionnaire” (Or How to Look Really Good, Really Easily...)
- Talk Money Before Meetings! (And Avoid $150-Brochure Clients...)
- Showtime! Actual Meeting Dress, Agenda, Process, Do’s and Don’ts
- Ten Ways to Stay in Touch with Clients (Without Asking for Work!)
- Google Alerts—Go from Basic Vendor to Valued Partner to Your Clients
- Phone Interviewing Basics—From Set-Up to Sign-Off
- Crafting Testimonials that Make Clients Sound Amazing
- The Nuts ’n Bolts of Content-Gathering Interviews
- One Simple Tip to Ensure Your Copy Hits the Mark Every Time
- Working Smarter with Interns and Offshore Outsourcing (No Kidding!)
- 3 “Must-Have” Tech Tools that’ll Save SO Much Time
- The Ebb and Flow of Work & Learning Your Work Rhythms
- Clients and Other Fascinating Species: From the Perfect to the Not-So

Chapter Eight

Touching Your Market—By Direct Mail and Email. 121

- Direct Mail (DM): Proven Strategy and Resources
- DM Tips from Industry Pro Avoids Common Mistakes
- DM Postcard Houses: Fast, Easy, High Quality, Economical
- The “Free Report” Direct-Mail Strategy: Powerful and Proven
- One Mailing to 77 Clients Yields $80K+ in New Business.
- A Novel (and Highly Effective) Direct Mail Approach
- Is it a DM Postcard? A Case Study? Both!
- Warm Email Prospecting: A Game-Changer (Seriously)
- The Florida Freelancer Who Made Email Her Marketing Centerpiece
- Considering an Ezine? Here Are the Top 10 Best Practices.
- Do a Blog? Pros, Cons, Dos, Don’ts, and FYIs

Chapter Nine

Money Matters: How Much to Charge and How to Get Paid 132

- Talk “Flat Rates” with Clients & Hourly Rates with Yourself
- Debunking the Myth of “Standard” Writers Rates
- The Commercial Writing Field Just Pays Better. Period.

- Basics of Project Estimating (Hint: It’s All About Time...)
- Get Them to Talk First and Make More Money.
- Find a Mentor for Pricing and Other Mysteries.
- Underestimating, Scope Creep, Revisions & the Elusive “Perfect Copy”
- Got “Aggravation Fees”? The Red Flags That Warrant Them...
- Laughably Simple, Anxiety-Free Ways to Raise Rates
- Need Contracts? Try the Simple, Adequate “Bid Letter” Instead
- Bidding & Billing When Working with Graphic Designers
- “Spec” Work—Yes or No? Your Game, Your Call
- Steady Money Every Month? The Basics of Retainer Agreements
- A Neat Trick for Turning Invoices into Soft Selling Tools
- Getting Upfront Deposits and Invoicing in Stages
- Tracking Deadbeats: Getting Your Money the Nice Way

Chapter Ten

The Well-Networked Writer 156

- Keeping the Radar Up (Politely) Over Chips and Dip
- Everyone You Know Works for Some Company Needing Writing
- From Volunteer Work to Paying Work (and Barter, Too!)
- Crafting “Elevator Speeches” and “Verbal Taglines”
- The Curious Psychology of Self-Employment
- Getting the Most from Your Chamber of Commerce
- Smart, Smarter and Smartest Networking (Go Where You’re the Only Writer)
- A SERIOUS Networking Organization (Check It Out...)
- How Much Social Media? Far Less than You’d Ever Imagine...
- Starting Your Own Writers Group (& Taking the Idea to New Heights...)

Chapter Eleven

Full-Time Dream, Part-Time Reality 170

- Part-Time Biz-Building: How to Do It When You’re a ‘9–5’er Employee
- More Remote Working (Post-Pandemic) Only Makes PT Biz-Building Easier!
- Kansas City FLCW Still Holds FT Job and PT Writing Biz
- FT Software Salesman Builds PT Writing Biz, Makes $163K in First FT Year

- Tips for “Ethical Juggling” of FT Job and PT Careers
- Not Cut Out for ONE Life Path? Neither Was This Amazing Guy...
- Short-Term Night/Weekend Work Might Just Be What It Takes...

Chapter Twelve

Eating Well in Smaller Markets 180

- Seven Strategies for Thriving in Smaller Markets & Rural Areas
- Geography Is Irrelevant; Prospect Anywhere and Get the Best of All Worlds
- Gulf Coast Gumption: African-American Woman Flourishes in Florida
- Small-Town Life, Big-Market Business: NY FLCW Makes It Happen
- Subcontracting: Small-Town Success by Managing A Writing “Stable”

Chapter Thirteen

“How Do I Make $125 an Hour (or More)?” 188

- The Three Best Routes: Talent, Marketing Chops and Specialized Expertise
- “Spot Specializing”: How a FT Generalist Profited from a PT Specialty
- Demonstrating P-C-O to Clients: Professionalism/Competence/Ownership
- Take-No-Prisoners Attitude + Competence = One Lethally Profitable Combo
- Six “Best-Bet Backgrounds” to Make $125 an Hour and Beyond
- Where Specializing Can Lead: How Does $375 an Hour Sound?
- If $125 Isn’t in the Cards, Would $60–75 (+ Great Lifestyle Bennies) Work?
- The Great Debate: Generalist vs. Specialist—The Pros & Cons

Chapter Fourteen

What Will We Be Writing? 198

- Tons of Work in 3 Arenas: B2B + B2C + “Internal” (& It’s NOT All “Sales”)
- “Who’s the Audience?”—The First Question for Any Project
- Got the Commercial Writing Chops? Surf ’n See...
- Marketing Brochures of All Stripes (Yes, They’re Still Relevant)
- Crash Course: Creating a Simple Tri-Fold Brochure
- Advertising Copy, Newsletters, and Direct Mail
- (Guest) Bob Bly: Getting Started in Direct Response Copywriting
- Press Releases, Web Site Copy
- (Guest) Casey Hibbard: Knack for Storytelling? Give Case Studies a Try!

- (Guest) Gordon Graham: White Papers 101
- (Guest) Beth Carter: A Primer on Content Writing
- Business Letters (Bonus: Three Attention-Getting Openings)
- Marketing Emails & Landing Pages (With Input from a Pro)
- Speeches: Speechwriter for 74+ CEO's Offers Up the 411
- Ghostwriting: Writing Books and Articles for Busy Execs
- (Guest) Jennifer Mattern: PR Writing
- Video's BIG: More Internet Bandwidth = More Video Writing Needs
- Radio Spots, Event Scripting, Hi-Level Proposals, Blog Writing
- Technical Writing (vs. High-Tech Marketing Writing—BIG Difference)

Chapter Fifteen

The Last Word 235

- "The 5% Rule: Why Success Is Easy"
- No, the Market Is NOT Saturated with Writers
- Reality Check: It'll Be Easier for Some, Harder for Others. Like Life...
- Bad Days in This Business Are Like Bad Days at the Beach
- Take the First Step, and Watch What Happens...

Appendix A

Writing Resources 240

- Books, Web Sites, Ezines, Blogs, National Organizations and More...

Appendix B

The Deluxe Well-Fed Tool Box (You're Going to Want This...) 247

Index 00